KEWANNA TOWN COUNCIL

The Kewanna town council met in regular session Thursday, October 6, at the town hall. Those present included council members, Dan Birge and Jeff Finks; clerk-treasurer, Jenny Kay; marshal, Dennis Price; fire chief, Jay Cunningham; Michael Bowditch of Consolidated Union; and Jon Sailors. The minutes of the September meeting were read and approved.

Fire Chief Jay Cunningham discussed the monthly fire report, adding that there is currently a burn ban. He raised concerns about residents burning trash in their yards. Any burning trash must be in a container/barrel with a screen covering the top and no plastics should be burned with the trash. The fire chief would like to see a complete burn ban enacted, but this was tabled for the present. Cunningham, who is also a member of the township advisory board, noted that cameras will be installed at the local township park. Cunningham reported that he attended a county council meeting and found that a county is not going to pay first responders any more. The town council intended that LOIT funds would cover that expense. The town council approved pulling the $1,000 for annual first responder pay from the LOIT money it receives and will look over the issue again early next year.

The local fire department responded to two town calls during September, both medical and 10 township calls, four fire and six medical. Training for the month consisted of hose testing. The marshal submitted his monthly report and commented on how well he felt the festival went this year. He noted that the siren on the squad car has quit working. It will be repaired at the same time the new camera is installed. Reserve Lesse Reason has been assisting the local deputies. He will be able to come on as a deputy in February of next year. The marshal's report noted three traffic warnings; one criminal arrest; one accident report; 42 calls answered and 1,400 miles patrolled.

Jon Sailors, Sr. voiced his concern about the condition of Main Street sidewalks. Councilman Finks explained that the town is currently looking into a grant that will hopefully include sidewalk repair/replacement for Main Street as well as other improvements. Sailors also expressed his concern about speeding cars around the times the school buses are coming and going; kids on skateboards with the potential of getting hurt; and the amount of open burning going on.

Consolidated Union executive Michael Bowditch is seeking the council's approval to move forward with a quote for the Fire prevention week, Oct. 9-15

October is fire prevention month and this week, October 9-15, is fire prevention week and a perfect time to recognize those local volunteers who man the Kewanna-Union Township Fire Department. The volunteers are a highly trained group which donates many hours to serving the community every year and is taken for granted much of the time.

Volunteer fire fighters include Fire Chief Jay Cunningham; assistant chiefs, Larry Baldwin and Jim Felda; captains, Tony Peasert and Brock Hildebrand; lieutenants, Chuck Felda and Cullen Ulerick; Bob Clyde, Chuck Baldwin, Ned Urban, Steve Sutton, Calvin Holloway, T. J. Stevens, Russell Mullins, Tiffany Fuller, Dave Stangle, Mick Cook, Nikki Lowry, Tracy Cunningham, Brent Hamman, Dawn Boehme, Cam Vawter, Paul Hott, Brian Guzman and Bev Baldwin, secretary/treasurer.

When you see one of these volunteers be sure to express your thanks for their time and effort. They are a very important part of the community and their service is invaluable.

The department would like to take this opportunity to remind residents that properly installed and maintained smoke alarms provide an early warning sign to your household and can save your life and those of your loved ones.

Ionization smoke alarms sound more quickly when flaming, fast moving fire occurs. Photo-electric alarms are quicker at sensing smoldering, smoky fires. A combination of these two smoke alarms is available and preferred for home safety. Special alarms are available to assist those with hearing disabilities, often times using strobe lights and/or vibrate assistance. Smoke alarms can be purchased at your local hardware store, home supply or general merchandise store.

Smoke alarms should be installed on every level of your house, including basements and sleeping area. Alarms that are hardwired need to be installed by a professional. The alarms should be tested every month and batteries should be changed once a year. Smoke alarms should be replaced every eight to ten years.

When it comes to escaping fires, time is the biggest enemy up to every second counts. It is important to have fire escape plans and to regularly practice those plans to help you and your family get out of your home quickly.

Make sure everyone knows when and how to call emergency telephone numbers. Remember - escape first and then call the fire department. Do not try to save property; the most important thing is to get out safely.

When used properly, fire extinguishers can be life and property saving. Use a fire extinguisher only if you have alerted other occupants of the home and someone has called the fire department.

Burn ban in effect

Kewanna residents are reminded that a burn ban is currently in force through December 1. Persons wishing to get rid of fallen leaves should take them to the edge of the street where they will be picked up by town employees.

The council and clerk will serve for a three-year term so that the next town election year will fall the same as a county general election year.

Farm Credit Honors Families with Long-Term Membership

As a sign of its commitment to supporting farming families in rural America, Farm Credit Services of Mid-America — an ag lending cooperative serving over 92,500 members throughout Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and Tennessee — is honoring member families who have supported the national Farm Credit System for over half a century.

Recognition in the Heritage Farm Program is open to current members of Farm Credit who have also been a member of the Farm Credit System for at least 50 consecutive years through their immediate family, parents or grandparents. Families who qualify are honored at an annual ceremony with a special plaque and heirloom hope chest.

"This year, 47 farm families will receive the Heritage Farm designation," said Ed Yanos, chair of the Farm Credit Services Board of Directors who added that the program is now in its fifth year. Included in this year's inductees are Don and Nancy Douglass of Kewanna.

"Slices of Life"

By: Jill Portlee

Like a fish out of water

I still miss her. It's been over a year since she's been gone for real and the emotions surrounding the loss have become less intense. Friends told me this would happen; time is the universal healer. Still, I miss her every day.

My mom - she passed away last year, marking the completion of a journey that involved losing her twice. The second loss ended with her death. The first began when she was diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease. This week would have been her birthday, so she's been on my mind more than usual. Little details stir up memories, and I find myself pausing to reflect.

My melancholy is interrupted by a real life and death situation in the dining room, where we keep our pet fish. Two days ago, we awoke to discover our biggest fish flopping helplessly on the wood floor next to his aquarium. No one knows how he got there. He was gasping for breath. My husband picked him up and put him back in the tank and we thought he might recover.

Now it appears the damage he took from the fall and from being out of the water was too much to overcome. He is floating vertically in a half-swim, gasping for breath. I am aware he is dying and there is nothing I can do to help.

Knowing someone with Alzheimer's is like watching a fish out of water. There is grasping and gasping - for words, for memories, for meaning, for order, for control. I imagine it feels claustrophobic when the world doesn't make sense - when you want desperately to break free and breathe freely, but there is no escape, no air.

It must be terrifying - to be a fish out of water.

I say I lost my mom twice because it's what Alzheimer's does. As it destroys the brain's ability to function, the disease messes with memory, language, judgment and personality. Alzheimer's steals the very traits that make a person who they are. It's difficult to imagine anything more cruel.

I witnessed this with my mom. Alzheimer's took hold of her and consumed whatever it wanted. In its place, a new mom emerged. My Alzheimer's mom. She was different from the mom who raised me, but not in all bad ways. She wasn't as quick and clever, but she was quick to laugh. She wasn't as decisive, but she handed out hugs freely.

She couldn't always find the words to express herself, but "I love you" became a staple in her vocabulary. She didn't seem as confident, but her fragility made her approachable. Pre- and post-Alzheimer's she was loving and lovable. Even when she didn't recognize me, she knew she adored me like only a mother can. I saw it in her eyes when I hugged her, which I did as often as possible.

Like my floundering pet, I watched my mom's struggle knowing there was nothing I could do to change her situation. She was a fish out of water; the Alzheimer's made sure of that. She is free of the disease now. No more struggles. No more gasping and grasping. I am comforted by and thankful for this knowledge.

It's been more than a year and I miss her still. Of course I do. For as long as I am able, I always will. Happy birthday, Mom.

Letter To The Editor

Need to fix our democracy!

At the end of each Census process new Congressional districts are drawn. Some states win new representatives and some lose as a result of population changes.

Currently the politicians draw the Congressional district lines. In other words, they select their voters. It should be the voters select the representatives. The current process is calling for a "fix".

Why not let the Census Bureau draw the Congressional district lines? The lines would be based on math not politics. Districts would look more like "boxes" rather than some abstract painting as they do now.

Just take a look at the district maps nationally. Amazing picture. It should be a much clearer, and organized map based on population numbers only.

Will this restore democracy in American? Not sure, but it surely would help. Why are we not making it easier for people to vote, rather than more difficult?

Let's make the Election Day a holiday. Let us act as if we really want people to vote.

Suggestions are probably much too simple to expect any thought or more toward a change.

Larry Cunningham

Even Nixon resigned in the wake of Watergate, which was nothing compared to what Obama-gate has done to this great nation. If Obama has any dignity left at all he will resign and let Biden take the reins for the balance of this administration's term. Then we need some real change and elect someone who can turn this great nation around. Remember the Alamo, remember 9/11 but above all, remember what Obama-gate has done. Nothing for America, but set up restrictions and get us deeper in debt with no jobs "no results". So vote in 2012 but this time for real change with someone that can handle it.

Renee Colley was in Crown Point Friday, Sept. 30. She had a delightful time attending a birthday party held in honor of Pauline Strong and Al Manco. The event was held at the Lakes of the Four Seasons Country Club. Also attending the celebration were Dick Fedorchak, Palmer Boyd, Joe and Nancy Verplank, Ray and Becky Bosco and Eldon Strong.

Dick Fedorchak, Palmer Boyd, Chuck Nelson, Joe Verplank and Ray Bosco took advantage of the warm weather for a motorcycle ride to Attica Sunday, Oct. 2.

Don and Pauline Scales had a houseguest early in the week. Arriving Monday, Oct. 3, for a three-day visit was their daughter, Ellen Heiden of Columbia City. They had a wonderful time visiting while Ellen tackled several chores and helped Pauline run errands.

Ruth Cogdill welcomed her son, Tim Cogdill of Macy, Wednesday, Oct. 5. They enjoyed the morning visit catching up on all the family news while Tim tackled a few chores. The news included the fact that three of Ruth's children had started new jobs within the past two weeks: Linda Iagocki is now in Stanley, North Dakota working for Missouri Basin Corporation by hauling water to the oil fields; Mike Cogdill is working for Service One, a HVAC based in Anchorage, Alaska; and Jim Cogdill has returned to Wilbur Memorial Hospital in Lebanon. As always,

Ruth and Tim enjoyed a wonderful morning together.

Janet Yocum and her nursery school students enjoyed an outing to the local park Wednesday. Joining them were Janet's parents, Leonard and Nancy Evers, and several of the students' relatives. Everyone enjoyed a picnic and playing games in the unusually warm weather.

Renee Colley, Dick Fedorchak and Chuck and Jan Nelson and Stacy traveled to Turkey Run State Park Wednesday. They had a wonderful time admiring the autumn colors during their trip and while traveling through the park.

Florence Hogan accompanied her daughter, Wendy Kelly, to West Lafayette Thursday, Oct. 6. They took care of some errands early in the day. Later, they enjoyed a delicious dinner at the Route 66 restaurant before returning to Kewanna.

Julie Brown was in Fulton Friday, Oct. 7. She enjoyed visiting Camille Zimleman, Parker and the newest addition to their family, Marshall.

Pauline Scales had a wonderful time attending a bridal shower in honor of Nicole Jones of Muncie Saturday, Oct. 8. Nicole is the bride-elect of Pauline's grandson, Eric Koonz. The event was hosted by Eric's sister, Cindy Wiese, and held at the home of Missy Young of Twelve Mile. Nicole and Eric will be married later this month in a beach-side ceremony in Florida.

Patty Tarver of Lake Placid, Florida arrived Saturday for an extended visit with her brother and sister-in-law, Don and Pauline Scales. Patty's niece and nephew, Barbara and Doug Grandstaff of Kendallville, chauffeured her from the airport in Ft. Wayne to Grass Creek.

Ann Zartman was the guest of honor at a family gathering Saturday. The occasion was in celebration of her birthday and hosted by her daughters, Jane Green and Shirley Zartman. Helping them celebrate the day were Ann's son-in-law, Rich Green; her granddaughter and her family, Dawn and Rick Nikolich and Luke of Mt. Vernon; her grandson and his family, Dale Green, Joshua, Jacob and Wendy Van Horn of Culver; her great-granddaughter and her husband, Haley and Jose Vera of Michigan; her great-grandson and his family, Heath Harding and Makhia and Tanesha Anderson of Rochester; her great-grandson and his friend, Holt Harding and Stephanie Abbot; and her great-granddaughter, Brittany of Purdue University.

Linda Garner enjoyed attending the bridal shower held in honor of Nicole Jones Saturday. The event was held in the home of Linda's daughter, Missy Young at Twelve Mile. Nicole received many gifts and well wishes from her family and future family.

Eric Koonz spent a pleasant afternoon visiting with his grandfather, Don Scales, Saturday. The men were not invited to the women-only gathering honoring Eric's fiancée, Nicole Jones, so they enjoyed a men-only gathering of their own.

Florence Hogan and her son, Mike Hogan, took advantage of the wonderfully warm weather Sunday, Oct. 9. They enjoyed a nice, long visit while sitting on the porch.

Those persons who will be having birthdays next week (so please remember to give them your best regards) are: Finian Behny, David McPherson and Coleman Rude, Oct. 16; Kayla Metzger, Kelsea Metzger, Marie Mitchell, Pauline Scales and Car Troutman, Oct. 17; Linda Bauman and Robin Thomas, Oct. 18; Jennifer Mikesell, Oct. 19; Carter Field, Derek Jones, Joyce Luhnrow, Sunni Mercer, Dr. Jennifer Moilencup, Amy Smith, Mary K.
